London, April 20.—The British people and Americans in this country celebrated American partnership in the world war by a religious service today in St. Paul's cathedral, attended by official heads of the nation and a great congregation.

There was a great display of American flags in London and all other English towns, and a popular demonstration by the crowd which surrounded the cathedral. The tower and steeple topped the highest tower of the parliament buildings at Westminster—the first time a foreign flag was ever displayed on that eminence—and above all government buildings in the British capital.

Unprecedented Service.

The service in the historical cathedral was unprecedented in that it was in commemoration of an act and decision of another nation. Overhead in the dim arches hung the battle flags of famous British regiments, some of which had been served in the American war of the revolution, while among the tombs and memorials of famous soldiers, ranged about the walls, were the names of those who fought against the colonies in that war.

The cathedral seats nearly 4,000 persons, and was filled to its furthermost recesses. All seats were occupied when King George and Queen Mary entered, followed by mayors and aldermen of twenty-six boroughs of London, wearing their scarlet robes of office.

The American embassy and consular staffs occupied front seats with representatives of American organizations in England. In the diplomatic section were officers in the uniforms of France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Romania and Japan.

Many Soldiers Attend.

Throughout the cathedral the army and navy blue were conspicuous. In the reserved seats there were a large number of wounded men and soldiers, including serving Americans serving with Canadian forces. Chancellores of the Exchequer Bonar Law represented the cabinet in the absence of Premier Lloyd George.

The prayers and psalms were read by the whole assembly and hymns sung by thousands of voices reinforced by the choir, the great organ, trumpet and drums, were deeply moving and unforgettable. The ritual was worthy of the momentous event in history and the temple of a nation.

LET RAILROADS FILE
INCREASE IN RATES(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, D. C., April 20.—The interstate commerce commission Thursday issued a tentative order permitting the railroads to file supplemental tariffs increasing freight rates 10 per cent, as applied for, effective June 1.

The commission's order was made effective so that shippers and other interested organizations might state their views upon it at a hearing being held here tomorrow.

At the close of the hearing, should the commission deem it desirable to adopt another method in dealing with the application for a general increase, the tentative order will be withdrawn, leaving the situation as it was before the order was issued.

All commodities with the exception of bituminous coal and coke and oil upon which advances already have been made, are included in the commission's order.

Madison, April 20.—A bill designed to increase salaries of county superintendents of schools was killed 46 to 30 by the assembly today on reconsideration.

The measure had reached engrossment stage last week. By a vote of 40 to 36 the bill designed to divorce school from saloons was killed off after consideration. The People's resolution to print copies of the national anthem, which was thought by some members to have been introduced in the spirit of levity, was killed by the senate.

A House resolution to raise war expenditures by taxes on large incomes was placed on the senate's Tuesday calendar. The assembly engrossed the Rogers bill, providing for loaning of money to aid in improvement of cut over land. Senator Schultz' bill to forestall the boarding up of food was given final passage in the senate.

La Crosse, April 20.—Taunted by his friends because he could not become a naturalized citizen, Albin Sedmayer, a German, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide here today. "I am a man without a country," he said just before pulling the trigger which sent a 22-calibre bullet into his head. The lead was detected by the skull, lodging beneath the scalp. He will be out of bed in a couple of days.

Washington, April 20.—Discharges from the national guard will not be granted enlisted men solely because they are married, according to instructions sent out to adjutant generals by the militia bureau. Where a soldier has independent means which will prevent his family from becoming a charge upon the government, he will not be mustered out.

The war department has been flooded with inquiries and protests from both officers and men of the national guard, many of whom have been discharged against their wishes, because they were married men. A supplementary statement of policy was necessary as in numerous cases guardsmen are being reduced to mere skeleton organizations by rigid application of the dependent family rule.

Want No Dependents.
The war department is resolved, however, to relieve the government of the necessity of giving orders to the families of men who join the colors. More than $4,000,000 was disbursed in this way as a result of the Mexican border mobilization. The bureau letter follows:

"With reference to circular letters from this bureau dated April 9, authorizing discharge of all enlisted men of the national guard who have families dependent upon them for support, the members of which would become a charge upon the government, in case they were called into the federal service, you are advised the discharge of men solely because of the fact that they are married or have families, is not authorized."

When no means are ample for the support of his family in his absence or where his business can be so conducted in his absence as to afford means of support to his family, discharge should not be granted.

The object of discharging men as provided in the circular letter of April 9, above referred to, is to avoid sending married men, dependent upon their families, and to obviate the necessity of payment of benefits to such members while the soldier is in federal service."

Holway Sends Protest.

Madison, Wis., April 20.—Maintaining that the war department's recent order to discharge all married men in the national guard will rob the service of a majority of the old and tried non-commissioned officers in Wisconsin, Adjutant General Orlando Holway, at the direction of Governor E. L. Baker, today wired Secretary of War Baker a formal protest against its drastic application.

General Holway's communication to the secretary of war follows: From The Adjutant General, Wis.: To Secretary of War, through Commanding General, Central Dep't. Subj: Re: Discharge of Married Men.

The adjutant general of Wisconsin, most respectfully protests not against the general policy of such discharges, but against the very sweeping and drastic application of such policy enjoined upon the commanding general of the central department, as was done, part of a circular dated April 19, 1917, and officially communicated to this office April 13, 1917.

The immediate and deplorable effect of such application will be the enforced discharge of the majority of the old and tried non-commissioned officers of the Wisconsin guard, as have their place in every military unit whether regular or guard and whose age and experience serve to steady and control the great mass of younger men of the ranks in all the incidents of service. Their number has already been greatly reduced by the increasingly rigid and frequently recurring physical examination to which the organization is being subjected and which apply the standards of age also to men approaching middle age.

The combined effect of both measures, whether so intended or not, will be to deprive the guard both now and hereafter of that most valuable element of military efficiency, namely a corps of non-commissioned officers of tried ability and experience.

In order to retain the services of such men for Wisconsin's national guard, without depriving their dependents of the means of livelihood, the legislature of the state of Wisconsin is assuming on behalf of the state a burden which the federal government, by their enactment monthly income is assured to soldiers dependents in the sum of thirty dollars for one dependent, forty dollars for two, fifty dollars for three and five dollars additional monthly for each additional dependent.

4. In view of these facts, it is respectfully requested that such modification of the instructions to the department commander be made as will permit the retention in service of men with dependents who are willing to serve and whose service makes for the efficiency of the organization in which they are enlisted.

Amsterdam, April 20, via London.—A Berlin dispatch says a resolution was passed at a meeting of the progressive party demands that President Wilson's attempt to sow discord between the kaiser and the German people.

The meeting was addressed by President Kampf of the Reichstag, who, discussing the unrestricted submarine campaign, said the resolutions he had been considering before a decision was reached. President Kampf reiterated the accusation that President Wilson had only dropped his mask when the submarine warfare began to cut off America's trade with England.

"With us there lives the conviction that the war is approaching an end," he said. "The Russian revolution certainly brought us advantages."

In Yesterday's Fighting.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Paris, April 20.—Violent fighting continued during the night in the course of which the French made further gains in the region of La Fauve and the Vaucluse plateau, the war office announces. Several lines of trenches east of Loire were captured. Heavy counter attacks by the Germans in Champagne were repulsed, severe losses being inflicted on the enemy.

The uniform failure of the Germans to resist the pressure of the French is the outstanding feature of the operations, date in the great offensive on the Aisne and in the Champagne. It is clear that General Nivelle's army is in no danger of losing the initiative, and that gradually but surely all the salients along the Soissons-Auberive front are being crushed.

Capture Fort Conde.

The principal salient to which the enemy has clung, formed by the river running south of St. Quentin, has been taken by the troops advancing northwest from La Fauve and northward from Vailly and Chavonne, the angle collapsed yesterday and Fort Conde was captured.

Substantial progress also was made in the center ground being won east and west of Craonne, which is gradually being enveloped in the Champagne sector on the right, strong positions still held by the enemy are falling one by one. All this work could easily have been done at a heavy cost in life under former war conditions.

It is being carried out with comparatively small loss now, thanks to the new technical methods used by the French.

Quit Bank of Aisne.

Berlin, April 20.—The occupation of the Siegfried positions, which have been fought for by the German army headquarters, began on March 16th and ended yesterday with the abandonment of the bank of the river Aisne between Conde and Soupir. "The enemy," the statement adds, "follows hesitatingly."

The German statement continues:

"On the Arras battlefield the firing increases daily. Near St. Quentin it varies. The double battle between the Aisne and in the Champagne continues in normal course. A second French attempt to break through in the Champagne has been frustrated. Up to the present, the French have used more than thirty divisions, which will be carefully reformed after the battle of the Champagne.

British Report Gain.

London, April 20.—"We gained ground during the night in the neighborhood of Villers-Guislain; see to-day's official statement." Elsewhere there was nothing especially interesting."

British Rout Turks.

London, April 20.—General Maude, commanding the British forces in Mesopotamia, has forced a passage of the Chait-al-Salem, attacked the Turkish positions and completely routed the Turkish forces, says an official statement issued today by the British war department. So far 1,244 Turks have been taken prisoners.

The bonds will be authorized by the bill probably will not be issued before sixty days.

The administration's plan to issue war bonds to help finance the war is being widely publicized. The plan, which is to issue bonds to individuals and corporations, will be put into effect as soon as the bill becomes law.

DOCTORS AND NURSES OF COUNTY ORGANIZE ON TUESDAY FOR WAR

ROCK COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY WILL HOLD MEETING TO FORMULATE PLANS FOR THEM TO DO THEIR "BIT."

BIG MEETING PLANNED

Medical Men and Women From All Sections of County Will be Here.
—Tentative Arrangements Ready Now.

Rock county surgeons and physicians and nurses at a meeting here Tuesday night will organize for war eventualities. The meeting will be held in the Myers hotel, starting at 7:30 o'clock with dinner. Each surgeon, physician and nurse from the county is requested and urged to attend.

The movement is one of patriotism as well as one of preparedness and the period is high time that the medical corps of the county should be placed on an organized basis, members of the Rock County Medical society say.

Tentative plans are to organize under what is known as the Maryland system. Its substance is as follows:

Physicians and nurses who remain at home in the sacrifice as well as in the gains which accrue through the absence of their fellow practitioners in the country's service. The medical army of doctors and nurses was formed in two divisions, one to be in the service of the country at the front, while the second remains at home and thus after a certain elapsed period, the second alternates with the first at the front and the latter returns to its practice in its respective community.

Janesville physicians are enthusiastic over the plans already formulated. A number already have joined and many passed and received their commissions as Medical Reserve Corps.

Such interest as is manifested here prevails throughout the country, indicative that this division of the state will do its share should the worst come.

The action of the county organization follows the appeal of President Hoyt E. Dearhoft of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin, of which Dr. J. F. Member of this city, is third vice-president and Dr. E. T. Nye of Beloit, counselor of the third district.

Some time ago the Rock county society appointed Dr. T. W. Nuzum of this city chairman of a committee of seven to formulate the plans for the organization of the physicians and nurses of the county for war. Dr. Brown of Beloit, secretary of this committee and the five other members are Drs. Wayne A. Munn and F. W. Van Kirk of this city, and Nye, Schmidt and Andrews of Beloit.

This committee has been engaged for some time past in advising medical men and nurses of the plans at hand and today announced the meeting, for the purpose of organization, to be held on Tuesday evening. A program which will affect the greatest for the forming of the corps is being outlined and includes addresses from a number of prominent persons.

Surgeon General G. E. Seaman of Milwaukee in correspondence to Dr. Nuzum writes: "The important thing just now is to encourage suitable young men to join the nearest military organization and encourage qualified medical men to apply to the surgeon general, U. S. A., for appointment in the Medical Reserve Corps."

President Dearhoft of the state society writes that "While it is inconceivable that all physicians will be needed the problem of providing competent medical attendants is one which belongs to the medical profession."

Alluding to the foresight of those responsible for the organization of the Medical Reserve Corps, Dr. Dearhoft says: "To what extent they will have volunteered and how many can be accepted will be based upon is problematical. Nevertheless there can be no question that every possible thing should be done to have adequate preparation made to meet any demand for medical service which modern warfare raises."

"The latter point explains it all," said Dr. Nuzum today. "We must be ready to meet any emergency and we must put our services to do so. It behoves every physician and surgeon and trained nurse in Rock county to attend this meeting on Tuesday evening. It is important that they should. There is nothing to lose and there is a whole lot to gain. I hope for the biggest turnout of men, women and women Rock county has ever seen."

Returning to the Maryland plan, an agreement is made by the doctors that one-third of the receipts of practice secured from patients who, under normal circumstances would have employed the absentee, are to be paid over to the secretary of the society by whom such funds are to be had for the physician's trust or turned over to the physician's family or order. It has also been arranged that adequate publicity will be given through the association upon the return of the physician to his practice in order that there shall be no undue delay in the resumption of his work.

BLACKLISTER TELLS SOURCE OF LIQUOR; LANGE INVESTIGATES

Posted Man Admits Purchasing Drinks and Becoming Intoxicated.—City May Push Case.

Jerome Conley, a blacklisted man, in municipal court this morning furnished the police and the city's legal authorities substances for investigation and possibly the prosecution of a centrally located saloonkeeper on the charge of selling drinks to a posted individual.

Conley readily told where he procured his liquor. Judge H. L. Maxfield secured this information when after asking Chief of Police Chapman what he knew of Conley, the police head offered the information that the prisoner had been on the black list for some time. The court conducted his examination further and took the testimony and secured the foundation for the case for City Attorney Charles H. Lange to work upon.

The municipal counsel, later in the morning, was given the facts and he immediately started work on the case.

On his plea to the drunkenness charge Conley was fined ten dollars and costs or fifteen days.

FEDERAL ROAD AID BILL IN ASSEMBLY

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
Madison, Wis., April 20.—The assembly will take up the six federal highway aid bills next week. Assemblyman Woodard, chairman of the assembly side of the committee which had the bill under consideration, is making plans to have the entire question discussed at next week's session. The bill comes from the committee through the senate without serious amendment, and Assemblyman Woodard believes it will pass in the house practically in the same form. The measure provides for the construction of 3,000 miles of trunk highway system in the state connecting all of the state seats and all cities with a population of 5,000 or over. Wisconsin's share of the construction is to be paid out of an increase in the automobile license fees in the state.

With the reporting of Senator Bray's platform bill for indefinite postponement in the upper house, the hope of any legislation affecting the primary election law is this week killed for the time being by the re-establishment of the caucus system and another the abolition of nomination papers.

Senator Bray's bill, while not as radical as some of the measures affecting the primary law introduced in the assembly, was opposed by Lieutenant Governor Dithmar and others who believed that it was the opening wedge for the destruction of the primary law. The fact that the Bray bill has now been unfavorably reported indicates that there will be no legislation to affect the primary law in any way at this session of the legislature.

The bill for the building of state armories, which has already passed the senate, will probably be in charge of Assemblyman Krutenecker, La Crosse, and Woodard. Chippewa County, in the house. Assemblyman Woodard said today that he had heard of the opposition to the bill. Assemblyman Kurnenacker is a member of the finance committee and voted for the bill on the committee.

TO CONSERVE SUPPLY OF SEED POTATOES

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Madison, Wis., April 20.—The potato men of the state will meet with the governor this afternoon to take up the food situation. The governor has sent a statement to all of the potato dealers asking that they limit their supply of potatoes and that they ship no potatoes out of the state. Statistics gathered indicate there are about 450 carloads of potatoes in the state, or sufficient to plant about the same amount of ground as last year. He has also asked that the supply of beans be held in the same way. In reality the governor's order is a continuation on potatoes and beans in order that they be held in the state for seed purposes.

STILL DELAY.

Congress still marks time down in Washington over the question whether we shall have a drafted army or a volunteer army. Meantime no steps are being taken to organize or equip this vast army that it is expected to raise, no matter which way it is raised. The war department is handicapped by not knowing what to expect and those thick-headed members of the lower house continue to deal in generalities and voice their own private opinions opposing the thought and best judgment of those who have made the question a life study. John Marshall, one of the greatest statesmen this nation has ever developed, proclaimed the fallacy of the volunteer service for raising an army back in Revolutionary days. If this was found true in those stirring times how much more so is it true today. All the European nations had intensive military training in active operation long before the present war except England, and this nation suffered from the shakers until it resorted to draft to fill its ranks with fighting men. This delay is a serious handicap to the military branch of the service and one that will be hard to overcome no matter what the ultimate outcome. Fortunately the senate has agreed to stand by the war department and its military committee will report favorably on the measure even though the house committee presents a majority report against it. Then it will come to the final vote in the house and it is to be hoped that the congressmen will line up solidly behind the administration and grant their request and not further delay matters. Then let them take up the compulsory training measure and put it through with a rush and complete their preliminary work of preparing this nation for eventualities which should have been taken two years ago. However, it is better late than never and it is not too late to mend our ways and demonstrate to the world we are not a nation of slackers.

AN EXAMPLE.
It was but a hundred and forty-two years ago Wednesday night that Paul Revere "hotted and spurred, and ready to ride," watched the Old North Church tower in Boston for the lanterns to tell whether the British marched by the land or sea." Then came his ride and the "sparks from his steed set the land in flame."

Then came the Lexington massacre. The battle of Concord when the farmers stood firmly and gave the "Red-coats not half from behind each fence and farm yard wall." The retreat became a rout and but for Lord Percy and his reinforcements but few of that original band of marauders would have reached Boston in safety.

The colonies had found themselves. They had struck the first blow for liberty. It is a hundred and forty-two years ago tonight since the hills around Boston swarmed with "Minute Men" armed with old flintlocks and a gill of powder, home-made bullets and no tents or camp equipage, and began their famous siege of Boston that culminated in driving out the foreign invader from sacred New England soil.

There on Breed's Hill overlooking the placid St. Charles and Boston our forefathers gathered under arms. They were determined men. They came from all parts of the New England colonies. Later they were joined by others from the southland. The Paul Revers had done their duty and these farmer soldiers left their homes to fight for liberty and their rights.

It is an example that this day and age can well follow. It is a lesson that the young man of today can emulate. Why wait to call for volunteers or the draft? Why not enlist now and know with what company you are going and who will be your officers? The nation asks for the young men of this day and generation just as the thirteen colonies asked for the services of its Minute Men in the stirring days of Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill. Think it over.

THE ONLY WAY.

The government is about to float an enormous loan of seven billion dollars, and while few minds can grasp the extent of the amount of money represented in these figures, still when the size of the country is considered and the great number of people composing its population, the size is reduced in the mind's eye and it becomes a matter of regular business.

There is little question but that the people of the country will subscribe freely and quickly to such an offering if they are apprised fully of the situation and all of the angles pertaining to the flotation of bonds of the kind.

Bond Law, the British official floated a loan of over five billion dollars at 5 per cent which his colleagues said would require 6 per cent interest, and thus saved his country fifty million dollars a year and cost less than two and one-half million dollars to bring about.

This was accomplished through advertising, or in other words, by letting all of the people know all about the circumstances surrounding the transaction. If our government will recognize in the various mediums of advertising the fact that all of the people can be reached quickly and a full knowledge of the requirements of the case laid before the masses quickly, there is little doubt but that the same substantial saving can be made here.

The government should become a regular advertiser, in all of its departments, in securing recruits for both army and navy and for people to fill the various other positions which this war has made necessary to care for quickly.

The use of the newspapers, magazines, farm papers and newspapers and magazines of foreign languages would touch practically every person in the entire United States. They are giving of their space freely at the present time without charge, but it should be made a matter of business to cope with the whole idea and the government should use paid advertising.

GARDEN PLOTS.
More garden plots for cultivation are needed. Persons who have vacant places should be patriotic enough to offer the use of their land for those who desire to plant gardens or should cultivate them for their own use.

This proposition to prohibit the sale of veal calves under the age of six months, if females, is bound to have its effect upon the future of Wisconsin dairy and beef herds that will also tend to increase the milk supply and also the beef products. Right now Rock county farmers can well afford to increase their dairy herds with the establishment of the milk depot here in Janesville.

The state board of defense has decided that seed potatoes must be preserved for the use of Wisconsin farmers and consequently the growers of this tuber who have saved a lot of extra bushels in their cellars and root houses during the winter when prices soared may find their paper profits vanishing as the new potatoes from the south will soon be here and prices are bound to drop.

It will take a lot of explaining to make the constituents of some of those congressmen down at Washington believe their representative voted properly when they opposed the wish of the president in the last days of the "deceased" congress and the opening days of the present one. The only way they accomplish any results is to vote right now. Vote for the country, not for personal feelings.

Scarcity of government seeds this year is going to be counted up against a lot of representatives in congress down at Washington when the next election comes. This has been one bit of plunder that the average gardener has enjoyed receiving, even though he complains of high taxes.

Perhaps there are no submarines off our coast, but the dispatch from Berlin stating there are none does not reassure the average citizen of this country at all. In fact, in view of the "scraps" of paper incident in the past it makes the anxiety double for all shipping off our coast.

GUARD STOCK YARDS;
WARN ALL SHIPPERS

Only Train Crews Permitted in Chicago Food Terminal After Night-fall—Railway Agents Get Advice.

Stockmen of Janesville and vicinity accustomed to accompanying their shipments into Chicago and ride into the union stock yards after the transfer from the delivering railroad are not permitted to do so at the present time—precautionary measures analogous with those consequent to the disrupted international affairs between this country and the Kaiser's domain. Janesville, railway agents Alva Hemmens and Fred W. Zimmerman, of the Northwestern and Milwaukee roads, respectively, this morning received information with the notification to inform stockmen accordingly.

The order prohibits all shippers and contractors of stock, passengers or other persons aside from the train and engine crews, from being brought between the hours of 7:00 p. m. and 6:30 a. m., into the greatest stock terminal in the entire world, the Union stockyards, which comprise hundreds of acres and employ thousands of men and women.

Men accompanying such shipments must now alight from the train at Kedzie avenue and take either a street car or the elevated.

The order was issued simultaneously by the police department of Chicago and by the National Defense Council. Should any person other than a railway man be found in the yards or on the trains entering them he will be arrested and prosecuted by the military authorities.

The local agents were informed that unless strict accord is taken to the emergency order all trains will be stopped on the Chicago Junction railway.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL HAVE TRACK TEAM;
30 BOYS SIGN UP

Coach Phillips to Take Men Out for Cross Country Workout at First Practice Today.

Janesville high school will have a track team this fall, became assigned last night when over thirty boys signed up for the various track and field events under Coach Ernest Phillips. Principal Jean T. Shearer stated that if the team proved a good one, or if any individual stars were developed, the local school would be represented in all meets in this part of the state, and would also send men to the interscholastic meet in Madison late May.

The first practice will be held this afternoon after school, when Coach Phillips will take the entire squad out for a cross country workout to get them in shape for the special events which they will take up. The prospects in the distance the broad and high jumps are highest, though it is expected that a number of men for the distance events will be rounded into shape after the season gets under way.

No entries in the hammer gets will be made, though there were several men out for shot.

Most of the practices will be held in the Fourth Ward park, though the school officials will endeavor to secure the use of the Fair Grounds for a few occasions, for the class meet and any dual meets that may be arranged with other schools later on.

Interest in a track team at the school seems to be widespread, a factor which is most gratifying to the coach. With thirty men available, he hopes to sign a large majority of boys in the school to go out for some event on the various class teams. These will be organized as soon as possible, and training started for the interclass meet. Following this meet, the best material in the school will be worked out for participation in larger meets as the high school team.

HAVE ART EXHIBIT READY FOR SATURDAY

Paintings by Milwaukee Artists Will be Shown at Library Hall Under Art League Auspices.

An unexpected treat provided by the Art League for the enjoyment of the Janesville public and for the entertainment of the visiting clubmen, which will be here for the district federation meeting next week, will be the art exhibit to be hung in Library hall. This embraced a number of paintings by a Milwaukee group of artists, who have been exhibiting their work recently in Milwaukee.

The exhibit will open at two o'clock Saturday afternoon (this week) and will be open all afternoon and evening of that day. For the special convenience of the gentlemen it will be open Sunday afternoon and they are cordially invited to avail themselves of the privilege of visiting the gallery at that time. On next week the exhibit will be open on Monday and Tuesday, both afternoon and evening. No charge is made for viewing this exhibit, but a free will offering for paying necessary expenses is acceptable.

The artists represented by their work in this exhibit are as follows:

Five landscapes by Miss Emily Groom, among them "The River in Spring," awarded gold medal at Exhibition of Northwest at St. Paul in March.

Four pastels by Francisco Spianza. His beach scenes are an expression of his love for sunlight, blue seas and out of doors.

DENIES POLICE CHARGES HE INSULTED WOMEN; FINED

Si Dare, a traveling man residing on South Main street, was fined fifteen dollars and costs in municipal court this morning on his plea of guilty to drunkenness charges. The police alleged that aside from being intoxicated, Dare also insulted a number of women on the main streets. He denied his guilt and claimed that he was always a gentleman, sober or otherwise.

The local agents were informed that unless strict accord is taken to the emergency order all trains will be stopped on the Chicago Junction railway.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain unsifted cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the more expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cheesbro will be at home to their friends at 411 Hill street, Elgin, Ill.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Murphy of Mason City, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. William Cogman, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Madden, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith of Edgerton, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Walls of Elgin, Ill., and Mrs. J. L. Thompson of Rockford, Ill.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

THE SPRING POET.
He versifies of Halcyon skies,
Of winds and stirring heather,
In silvery words he sings of birds,
He raves about the weather;
He says that he would love to be
Where merles are making ditty,
It seems so long to leave the throng,
And bustle of the city.

Says he, in part, "Oh, yearning heart,
How we are fair to wander,
With happy sigh and dreaming eye,
Beyond the hilltops wonder!
Ah! could we yield to calls afar,
Where rivules are singing,
The magic flutes the lulling lutes
Of Arcady are calling."

And as he sighs we sympathize,
His words have quite beguiled us,
And yet at times his simple rhymes
Of Spring have rather rued us:
He yearns to stray through vernal ways.

Nobody said that he don't,

But Holly Gee and Goodness me,

Perhaps he thinks that WE don't.

Squirtin'
Considering the great amount of pleasure squirting brings to everyone at some time in his life it seems to deserve a few words of appreciation.
Squirting is perhaps most frequently enjoyed in the golden hours of childhood. The children in school did we not often during the recess hour run to the water trough and there, with our little squirt-guns and holes in them, squirt one another and peals of laughter? The writer remembers keenly an incident of his youth that is perhaps not irrelevant here. With his little waist belt from the time of the squirting of an older and rougher boy he returned to class at the call of the bell determined to be avenged.
In his hand he held his rubber ball filled with water enough for several thorough squirtings. It was then the custom—as, indeed, it is in some quarters—for the children to pass back to their rooms in single file, the teachers on either side with a sharp eye on their deportment. Something in the writer's look or expression may have betrayed his plans. Perhaps he smiled in pleased anticipation of the squirting awaiting his tough tormentor. At any rate, a division of one of the upper grades, an accented snarl of the most genial aspect, caused him to drop himself into the mud. In so doing he clutched the hand that held the well-filled rubber ball. The full force of the ball's stream, as chance had it, struck her in the eye. There still lingers a memory of the merriment among the other children nor has the doggling that followed been forgotten.

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Does soap bleach the hair?

(2) When in an ice cream parlor who should do the ordering, the boy or the girl?

(3) Is two days long enough for an engagement or how long is necessary?

(4) What kind of a ring would you prefer for an engagement ring?

(5) If my boy friend comes down on Sunday should my parents see him in the room all the time he is there?

I THANK YOU.
(1) No.

(2) The girl should tell the boy what she wants and he should do the ordering.

(3) There is no required length of time for an engagement. Two days is a very short time.

(4) I would prefer a diamond because it is the engagement stone.

(5) Parents do not stay in the room as much as they used to, but whether they should stay all the time is a matter the parents themselves should decide. I think it is unnecessary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls sixteen and seventeen. Are we too old to wear hair ribbons?

(2) When you dance with a boy it is considered polite to have him put his arm around you, and why is it wrong to let a boy put his arm around you when out walking or riding?

(3) What does "fussing" really mean? ROSALIND AND CELIA.

(1) You are at the age now when girls usually stop wearing hair ribbons, but if you are not large for your age it will be all right to wear them until you are eighteen.

(2) When dancing with a boy he puts his arms around you to guide you, and in most cases there are a great many others around you and you can no further. But if a boy puts his arm around a girl when she is riding or walking he will expect to kiss her.

(3) The slang word, "fussing," is another way of saying that a boy or girl has had a date with some one of the opposite sex. You can find a good definition for the real meaning of the word in the dictionary.

The Value and Limitations of Specialists

I wish I could impress upon every follower of this department the real value and limitations of specialists. So many patients reach me from people who have paid dearly for ignorance of these matters.

First, in no place in America is there any legal restriction upon the practice of any specialty of medicine or surgery. So long as a candidate has received a license to engage in general practice he is entitled to practice any specialty he chooses without further examination. Hence a specialist in one subject is not necessarily better educated or better trained than any other doctor. Of course, many physicians do voluntarily pursue special study after receiving the medical degree—in fact, all the better specialists and surgeons do so; but so do the better general practitioners nowadays.

Specialists are a great blessing. No one doctor can hope to master the whole field of medical science. Therefore, it is a fortunate thing that the family doctor can study his patient, find evidences of some special condition, refer the patient to a competent specialist for help. This is true economy. It is also the best evidence of honesty and skill in the family doctor. He sends the patient to a man he knows is worth consulting. His selection of the specialist is likely to be more appropriate than the patient's selection would be, for the patient, as hundreds of letters to this department show, too often consults the wrong specialist. How the patient to know who is reliable?

The way to specialities through the family doctor's consulting-room and it is the only economical and efficient way.

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered from female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times." Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. ROBERT STROPE, Sage Avenue, Washington Park, Illinois.

If you have any symptom about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

Inexpensive Lighting.

Many of the peasant class in Spain make use of the bark of the cork oak to light their cottages at night. The bark is placed in a kettle, from which protrudes a spout, and when it is hot enough it gives off a gas which burns with considerable brilliancy.

The lighting is not expensive, and the peasant is careful to save the carbonized cork refuse, for he can sell it, as it is known commercially as "Spanish black," one of the intensest black-browns known among pigments.—London Standard.

How to Heal Skin-Diseases

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple but reliable and inexpensive home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ring-worm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist get a jar of refined ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Almost any soap will clean the skin and hair. But those who want a soap which not only cleanses but actually helps the complexion and hair are wise to choose resinol soap.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, sooth-ing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

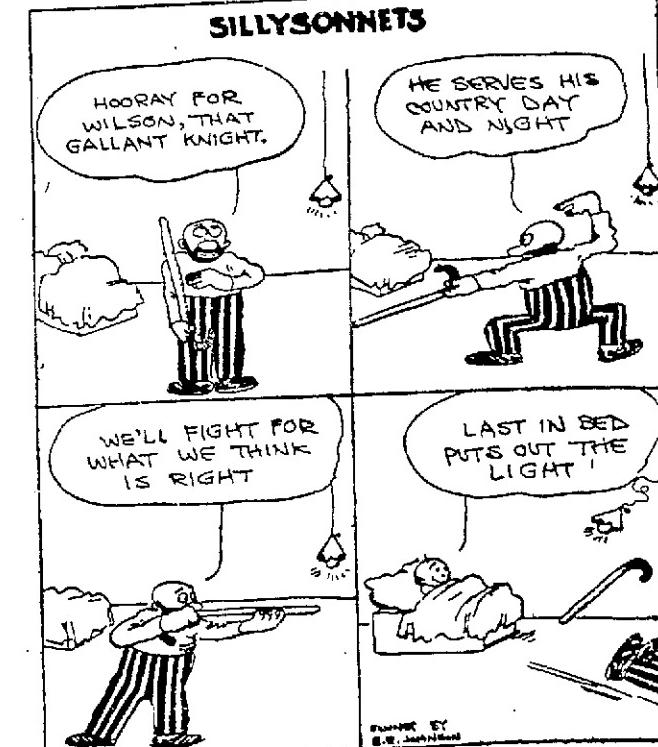

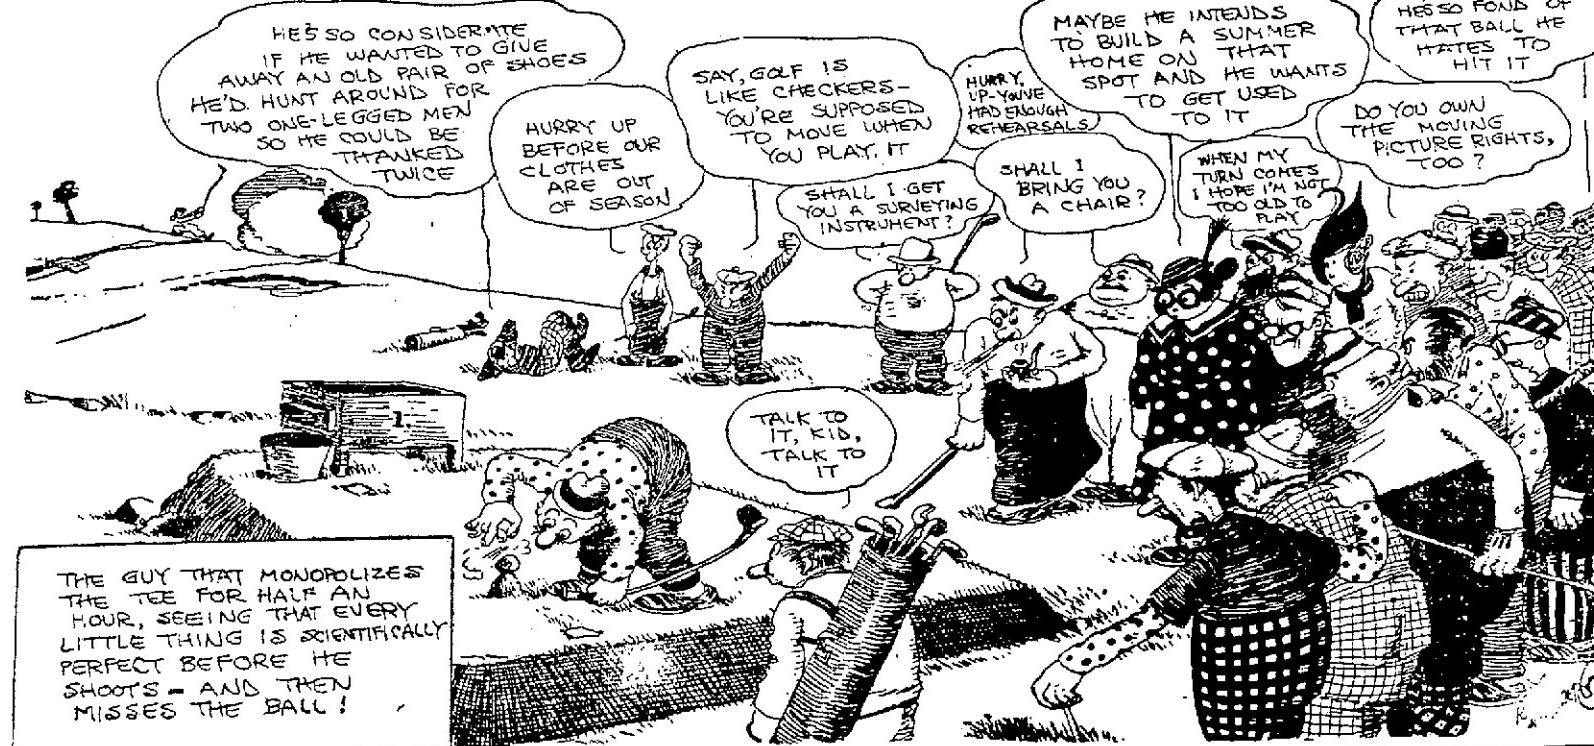

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull tired feeling—stuck headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

STOMACH SYMPTOMS

A leading physician of Chicago says: "Merely easing the pain with narcotics to give relief is a long way from a cure for stomach trouble. Besides the danger of neglect or inadequate treatment may lead to more serious maladies. What appear to be only minor troubles are often the symptoms of gall stones, acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, auto-intoxication, yellow Jaundice, appendicitis, cancer and ulcer of the stomach and intestines, or other fatal ailments." Stomach sufferers should take warning. Do not have blind faith in treatments that are giving no results. Much suffering could be avoided, many surgical operations prevented, scores of lives saved had May's Wonderful Remedy been taken in time. It is not a long drawn out treatment. It acts on the very source and foundation of stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, eliminating from the system the hard, poisonous catarrhal accretions and shows them to you. Try a dose tonight—tomorrow your days of torture will be over and another friend will be added to nearly a million grateful human beings, many who declare May's Wonderful Remedy has saved their life. Get it from your druggist today—tomorrow may be too late. For sale by J. P. Baker.

...The... Magnificent Adventure

A ROMANCE OF THE LEWIS AND CLARK EXPEDITION

By Emerson Hough,
Author of "The Mississippi Bubble," "Fifty-four Forty or Fight," Etc.

Copyright, 1916, by Emerson Hough

"You refuse, then, Mr. Jefferson? You will not reopen this case?"

"I refuse nothing to you gladly, my dear lady. But you have seen him. You have tested him. Did he turn back? Shall I, his friend and his chief, halt him at such a time? Now, that were the worst kindness to him in the world. And I am convinced that you and I both plan only kindness for him."

Suddenly he saw the tears in her eyes. At once he was back again, the courteous gentleman.

"Do not weep, Theodosia, my child," said he. "Let me kiss you, as your father or your grandfather would, one who holds you tenderly in his heart. Forgive me that I pass sentence on you both, but you must part—you must not ask him back. There now, my dear, do not weep or you will make me weep. Let me kiss you for him and let us all go on about our duties in the world. My dear, goodby. You must go."

CHAPTER XI.

The Threshold of the West.

MERIWETHER LEWIS, having put behind him one set of duties, now addressed himself to another and did so with care and thoroughness. A few of his men, a part of his outfitting, were found already assembled at Harper's Ferry, up the Potomac. Before sunset of the first day the little band knew they had a leader.

There was not a knife or a tomahawk of the entire equipment which he himself did not examine—not a rifle which he himself did not personally test. He went over the boxes and bales which had been gathered here and saw to their arrangement in the transport wagons. He did all this without bluster or officiousness, but with the quiet care and thoroughness of the natural leader of men.

In two days they were on their way across the Alleghenies. A few days more of steady travel sufficed to bring them to Pittsburgh, the head of navigation on the Ohio river and at that time the American capital in the upper valley of the west. At Pittsburgh Captain Lewis was to build his boats, to complete the details of his equipment, to take on additional men for his party, now to be officially styled the volunteers for the discovery of the west. He lost no time in urging forward the necessary work.

The young adventurer found this inland town half maritime in its look. Its shores were lined with commerce suited to a seaport. Schooners of considerable tonnage lay at the wharfs, others were building in the busy shipyards. The destination of these craft obviously was down the Mississippi to the sea. Here were vessels bound for the West Indies, bound for Philadelphia, for New York, for Boston, carrying the products of this distant and little known interior.

He drew up proudly.

"What benefit, indeed, to me? Do you think I would ask this for myself? No, it was for him. It was for his welfare only that I dared to come to you. And you will not hear new evidence?"

But now she was speaking to Thomas Jefferson, the president of the United States, man of affairs as well, man of firm will and clear cut decision.

"Madam," said he coldly, "in this office we do a thing but once. Had I condemned yonder young man to his death, and perhaps I have, I would not now reconsider that decision. I would not speak so long as this over if I did not know and love you both, and grieve over you both. But what is written is written."

His giant hand fell lightly, but with firmness, on the desk at his side. The inexorability of a great will was present in the room as an actual thing. Tears swam in her eyes.

"You would not hear what was the actual cause of my wish for him?"

"No, my dear. We have made our plans."

"There are other plans afoot these days. Mr. Jefferson."

"Tut, tut! Are you my enemy too?

Oh, yes, I know there are enemies enough in wait for me and my administration on every side. Yes, I know a plan—I know of many such. But one thing also I do know, madam, and it is this: Not all the enemies on this earth can alter me one iota in this undertaking on which I have sent Captain Lewis. As against that magnificent adventure there is nothing that can be offered as an offset, nothing that can halt it for an instant. No reward to him or me—nay, no reward to any other human being—shall stop his advancement in that purpose which he shares with me. If he fails I fail with him and all my life as well."

She rose now, calm before the imperious quality of his nature, so unlike his former gentleness.

with you, wh. indeed I hold to be my duty also.

I need not say how content I am to be associated with the most modest of all my acquaintances in this matter. Success in an undertaking of so difficult and perilous nature, as you know, it is in the wilderness, makes one most severely tried, and there we know a man. I have seen you so tried, and I know what you are. I am proud that you appear to hold me and my own qualities in like confident trust and belief, and I shall hope to merit no alteration in your judgment.

There is no other man I would go with on such an undertaking, nor consider it seriously, although the concern of my family largely has been with things military and adventurous, and we are not so far from home among savages. Too well I know the dangers of bad leadership in such affairs, yes, and my brother, the General, also, as the story of Detroit and the upper Ohio country could prove. All of that country should have been ours from the first, and only lack of courage lost it so long to us.

You are so kind as to offer me a place equal in command with you. I accept not because of the rank, which is no moving consideration, but because for you or for me—but you see in the generosity of the man proposing such a division of his own powers the best assurance of success.

You will find me at or near the Falls of the Ohio awaiting the arrival of your party, which I take it will be in early August or the Middle of that month.

Pray convey to Mr. Jefferson my humble and obedient respects and thanks for this honor wh. I shall endeavor to merit as best lies within my power.

With all affection, I remain your friend,

W.M. CLARK.

P.S.—God alone knows how much this all may mean to You and me. Merely,

WILL.

Clark, then, was to meet him at the falls of the Ohio, and he, too, counseled haste. Lewis drove his drunken, lazy workmen in the shipyards as hard as he might week after week, yet found six weeks elapsed before at last he was in any wise fitted to set sail. The delay fretted him, even though he received word from his chief bidding him not to grieve over the possible loss of a season in his start, but to do what he might and to possess his soul in patience and in confidence.

Recruits of proper sort for his purposes did not grow on trees, he found, but he added a few men to his party now and then, picking them slowly, carefully. One morning while engaged in his duties of supervising the work in progress at the shipyards he had his attention attracted to a youth of some seventeen or eighteen years who stood, cap in hand, at a distance, apparently too timid to accost him.

"What is it, my son?" said he. "Did you wish to see me?"

The boy advanced, smiling.

"You do not know me, sir. My name is Shannon—George Shannon. I used to know you when you were stationed here with the army. I was a boy then."

Dinner Stories

The customer picked up a knife from the counter and handed it to the butcher, with a friendly smile.

"I don't really want it," he said,

"but if you will cut it off I will take it along with the rest."

"Cut what off?" demanded the butcher in blank surprise.

"Your hand," was the gentle reply. "You weighed it with the sausages, and I like to get what I pay for."

One day, when Dorothy's mother was reading to the little girl, she came to the word "gravitation." She explained its meaning briefly, but thought the child would forget it. Consequently, she was much surprised when, a few days later, Dorothy came running in, exclaiming excitedly:

"Oh, mamma, it's a good thing for me there's law of gravitation, or I'd have tumbled head over heels into heaven just now, when I fell off the ladder."

"What is your definition, Miss Mabel, of a manly man?" he asked. Miss Mabel looked at him coldly. The clock struck 11. She hid a yawn behind her hand, and said:

"My definition of a manly man, Mr. Skinner, is a chap who doesn't stay on and on and on just because he knows the girl isn't strong enough to throw him out."

Winnifred had been disobedient and her mother promptly led her into the chicken house near by. Amid apprehensive cries from the poultry, the punishment began. But soon Winnifred looked around chidingly at her mother and asked:

"Don't you think this frightens the chickens too much, mamma?"

Listening to God Daily

By REV. HOWARD POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—O earth, earth, earth, bear the word of Jehovah.—Jer. 22:29.

For some time the Moody Bible Institute has been urged, and by one prominent business man especially, to add to its activities the work of promoting daily Bible reading. There are several organizations which are already doing excellent work along this line, but most of them reach only a limited number of people, owing to the fact that it is necessary to subscribe to a magazine in order to secure the comments for the lesson of the day. For this reason, and for the further reason that in spite of all that is being done, there yet remains a large number of professing Christians who are doing no systematic reading of the Bible, and millions of others who almost ignore the Book, the institute has felt led to open up a campaign for the promotion of daily Bible reading, and we invite the readers of this column to join with us in this effort and to share in its benefits.

How to induce them to do what they already admit is their duty, is the problem before us, as it is before every pastor and church leader. To scold them is worse than useless.

Questions to Consider.

Question—Can you give any reason why 20,000,000 church members, with opportunity from week to week to listen to sermons and admonitions from nearly 200,000 pastors, do not more closely follow Jesus and more fully represent him to and in the world?

Answer—Yes. The words of the preacher fall on hearts full of the cares and pleasures of this life, and in unprepared by the indwelling of the Spirit and the water of the Word.

Question—Without increasing churches or pastors, how could their efficiency be multiplied one hundred fold?

Answer—By a proper preparation of the heart to hear the messages proclaimed by the ministers of God.

Question—How can this preparation be brought about, without any more institutions, organizations or expenditure of money?

Answer—if all church officers would, with the pastors, insist upon daily worship and daily Bible readings in the homes of all the Christians in the land, themselves becoming examples and inspirers therein. God would answer the efforts and service with such a blessing to his church as the world has never known. The people would be more godly, and the world would have preached to them the greatest sermon of those nineteen centuries.

And now, pastors, will you help us, and will you let us help you? We do not claim to have any special light or wisdom on this matter, and we would not presume to teach you, who have long and prayerfully pondered this problem. But we have a vision of a widespread and appalling need, a mighty famine of the Word of God; and we believe that a wise and persistent campaign to promote daily Bible reading is greatly needed. By a campaign such as you and we can carry on, together with multitudes of laymen who will gladly co-operate, and scores of religious papers which we hope to enlist in the same work, believe that thousands of church members can be induced to read the Bible more regularly than they are now doing.

We know there is power in the Word, almighty power, power sufficient for every need. And we believe that with your co-operation we can let loose some of that power, and make these columns a blessing to multitudes of hungry hearts and homes. Now, will you join hands with us in this great campaign? Will you preach on the theme of daily Bible reading, and stir up your people on the subject? Will you tell us of any plans which you have found helpful in arousing an interest in the Bible? And will you pray for us, as we do daily for you?

To Lay Workers.

You too can help us by calling the attention of your pastor to this column, by asking him to preach on the subject of daily Bible reading, and by sending us any helpful plans or illustrations which bear upon this subject. Above all you can pray that God will give us wisdom and grace sufficient to carry this great campaign to a successful issue. Will you do it?

To all Readers.

Next month we purpose to describe a plan by which one pastor was able to interest his people, young and old, in Bible reading, in an unusual way, and by which his own ministry was completely transformed, and his usefulness was greatly increased. It is a plan which we believe all pastors will find easy to work, though not without work, and unspeakably helpful to themselves. Watch for it next month.

Forbearance.

"What did the editor say when you got through reading your blank verse composition?"

"Nothing," replied Mr. Penwiggle. "I didn't stop to wake him up."—Washington Star.

Second Quarter, Lesson IV, John XII: 1-11, April 22, 1917.

JESUS ANOINTED AT BETHANY.

Jesus had worked His greatest miracle under the very eaves of the ecclesiastical establishment. It was accepted as a challenge, and steps were immediately taken to compass His death. His hour not yet having come, the Master retired to Ephraim, twenty miles away, near to the sparsely populated country. There, in company with His disciples, He passed the time in physical and spiritual recuperation. A price was practically set upon His head, for the chief priests and Pharisees had given notice that if any one knew where He was he should give information in order that the arrest might be made. With mingled motives of curiosity, admiration, and opposition the people who had come to Jerusalem in large numbers to attend the Passover made quest for Jesus. For the time He eclipsed both temple and ceremony. As the days passed they began to say to each other in their disappointment, "Is it possible He is not coming to the feast at all?" But when the time was fully come, the Master resolutely set His face toward that slaughter-house of the prophets—Jerusalem. He was fully cognizant of all the peril of going to the city at this juncture. It was in this instance that one significant incident like a shaft of light fell across the inky blackness which His life closed. It was that high and loving courtesy shown Him in the home in Bethany. They banqueted Jesus. They made a supper in His honor, and in grateful recognition of His merciful deeds.

In the noblest villa of the suburb of Jerusalem, the table with its damask coverings was set in hollow square, as the custom was. It was surrounded by richly upholstered couches. Shaded lamps cast their full radiance upon the goodly scene. Eye, nostril, ear and palate were delighted. Color, fragrance, music, and sounds matched their several organs of sense. According to Oriental custom, the house was open and the interested villagers hung like an animated fringe around the table, sharing with the invited guests sight of the cheer and gladness.

On either side of Jesus reclined the trophies of His power—Simon whom He had healed of leprosy, and Lazarus whom He had revived from death. Noble and beautiful women graced and adorned the scene and hour.

One significant and timely deed lifted this feast to the level of a sacrament. Out of her boudoir Mary brought the most precious thing it contained—an Oriental censer of alabaster filled with genuine liquid perfume, very precious, the seal of which had never been broken. Her unspeakable gratitude would fain express itself in a deed of reverence and love. Unstintedly she poured the costly liquid upon Jesus' head and feet. In a moment every recess of the house was filled with the subtle and delicious fragrance.

But as may be expected in every human gathering, which of necessity must contain some whose ethical evolution is retarded or stunted, an apple of discord was thrown into this feast of love. It came from the very hand that was flinging from the common purse of the apostles. Judas was far and wedded. His social side was far from atrophied. Judas had given delivery of charity in which to serve his own cupidity. He affected benevolence that he might cover his grasping spirit. Some of the apostles were evidently infected with his carpentry spirit, and at least joined mildly in the specious protest.

Right royally did Jesus come to defend Mary and her dead. He interpreted her action and put the seal of His approval upon it. If she gave Him a momentary and passing embalming, He embalmed her forever in the ineffable incense of His praise.

"She hath wrought a good work. Whosoever this gospel shall be preached there shall also this that this woman hath done be told for memorial for her."

A practical principle of life is irradiated in connection with this incident. Jesus affirms that deeds which can be done any time must give place to those which can only be done just now.

"The poor are always heedlessly. In the twinkling of an eye, without warning the tall and famous tower crumbled into a heap of dust.

Undetected by human eye the subtle process of undermining had been going on until the last grain of sand needed to preserve the equilibrium had been abstracted. It is a picture true to life. Many a man still preys upon the innocent and trusting.

City people get most of their air on week ends and sleeping porches. Air in either of these forms costs a great deal of money. Sleeping porches are a poor substitute for the real thing.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Osthine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of osthine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement; some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength osthine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

AIR

Air is something that comes in at the windows if they are well raised. It does most people good, and kills others.

Some people have a superstition against air and go into hysterics if little of it gets into the house. Most of the deaths from air are psychological.

The people who have the greatest opportunity in the air line often neglect them most. Country people often fail to recognize the wealth of air at their very doorstep (or window sill).

Air is like a great many other things; it is largely a matter of jumping in, the first time.

City people get most of their air on week ends and sleeping porches.

Air in either of these forms costs a great deal of money. Sleeping porches are a poor substitute for the real thing.

The most expensive of all forms of air is golf. Golf air costs from five to fifteen cents an inhalation.

WHITEWATER MASSMEETING TO BOOST THE RED CROSS

Whitewater, April 20.—There will be a massmeeting of citizens at the armory this evening for the purpose of encouraging the membership of the Red Cross organization here. That chapter has now sixty-five members, and a campaign is being put on to enlist which is not satisfactory. The effect of the meeting is to spread information as to the work and needs of the organization. This will be patriotic music and an address by Dr. Arthur of Milwaukee, a man who has seen the work in Europe, as he was in Vienna when the war broke out. He is now working in the interest of the Wisconsin branch. Prof. Lange is in charge of the meeting and the program will commence at eight o'clock.

Miss Mildred Cox of Janesville will speak the week end at home. Mrs. C. W. Tracy is at Rochester, Minn., to be treated for throat trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox of Chicago visited the J. C. Cox family here the first of this week.

Harry Fowler has purchased the Rev. Perry Miller, district superintendent of the M. E. church, was here this week to hold quarterly conference of the church.

The senior class of the high school will entertain the juniors at the school building this evening.

W. Kildow, who has been ill for the past six weeks, is now able to be about again, but is not able to go on the mail route.

Gigantic Newspapers.

Once in the course of its long career the London Gazette appeared for awhile as a daily paper of stupendous size.

The cause was not a war, but the railway boom of 1845. It was required by parliamentary rules that details of all new schemes to be promoted in the forthcoming session should be published before Dec. 1, and so numerous were these schemes that throughout November the Gazette had to be issued in huge daily editions, one of which ran to 583 pages.—London Chronicle.

A Quaint Introduction.

Clarence King, the ethnologist, once wrote from San Francisco to John Hay the following letter of introduction: "My Dear John—My friend, Horace E. Cutler, in the next geological period will go east. It would be catastrophe if he did not know you. Lest I should not be there to expose Mr. Cutler's atlas, I take this opportunity to divulge to you that the police are divided in opinion as to whether he is such a person, I advise taking Anurie (double strength) three times daily for a week or two. This Anurie throws out the uric acid which accumulates, and if taken occasionally will prevent or cure rheumatism and gout. There is no difficulty in obtaining Anurie at any drug store.—Advertisement.

In these latter days, when thoroughbred racing is recovering slowly, but none the less surely from a staggering blow, and in these days of comparatively small stakes purses, one may be pardoned for expressing some incredulity over the report that Tommy McTaggart, so good a jockey as he is, has been offered a retaining fee of $10,000 for the first call on his services by Frank Nolan of Saratoga Springs. Not that Frank Nolan, a warm and courageous friend of racers who runs his horse stables, would hesitate to pay this price if necessary to secure the services of a capable boy, but jockeys do not command such retaining fees these days. In truth, it was a goodly price in the heyday of the sport.

MORRIS MILLER

Once upon a time the late W. C. Whitney paid Tod Sloan $14,000 to ride Ballyhoo Boy in two races—the Futurity and the Flatbush—both of which he won. Another year Tod charged fees for first and second call on his services next to $2,500, and up to $5,000, stands as a record for an American jockey. He contracted to ride the horses of the Prince of Wales for a fee of $30,000 one season, but never had a chance to earn it. Danny Maher, who has ridden so much in England and Ireland, three derbies to his credit, is said to have received $10,000 for several years for first call on his services, but Snapper Garrison, noted as the most successful jockey of his day here, never commanded more than $12,000 for first call, paid by the elder August Belmont, while Jimmy McLaughlin, a leading jockey for holdups, never received more than $10,000 as a retaining fee.

Jimmy McAuley of the Pirates feels like a fish out of water. He and Paddy Sizlin were side partners at Waterloo in 1914. The next year they were on the same team at Youngstown. In 1916 they were at Rochester. Now Sizlin is in Portland and McAuley is in Pittsburgh. The first time they have separated, McAuley and thus cause a reunion.

A month ago there was quite a crop of holdouts in the two major leagues, but by the time the season opened the crop, as far as important players are concerned, had dwindled down to one player, O'Farrell. It would not be surprising if Vitt wins his argument with the Detroit club for mere money, as he is a very valuable gentleman to have hanging around any ball club, particularly one with pennant aspirations.

The Yankees found considerable difficulty solving the delivery of Babe Ruth this season, and they are still in this way just where they left off last fall. The big left-hander offered his services at a reasonable station, but was informed that he was too short. Then he bought a pair of shoes with high heels and sought another office. All went well until the examining physician asked him to remove his shoes.

Sammy Sandow, a Cincinnati bantam-weight boxer, wants to become a soldier, but he's having a hard time trying to enlist. Sandow offered his services at a recruiting station, but was informed that he was too short. Then he bought a pair of shoes with high heels and sought another office. All went well until the examining physician asked him to remove his shoes.

YOU know these are unusual times; wool is hard to get, so in many cases cotton is substituted in clothes.

You have to be careful or you'll get cotton mixed goods—you don't want them.

The way to be sure of all-wool is to come to this store; you'll get Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. These makers use nothing but all-wool. Such clothes may cost a little more than the other kind, but they're worth many times more.

For smart style, good fit, big values, and elegance in detail, you can't equal Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. We don't say that because we sell the clothes; on the contrary, we sell these clothes because we can say these things about them. And that's another good reason why you should come here.

THE MEANING OF FEDERAL HELP

Quite Recently Public Roads
Were a National Disgrace.

INFLUENCE OF MOTORCARS

Road Associations, the Automobile, the Farmers' Demands and Other Influences Have All Contributed to the Pressure Which Has Finally Brought About Government Co-operation.

Until the motorcar—until, indeed, within the last ten years—the public roads of the United States have been a national disgrace. They are so yet, not quite 11 per cent of our more than 2,273,751 miles of roads deserving the name, writes C. H. Clady in the Scientific American.

But road associations, the motorcar, an insistent demand from the farmer for help (it often costs him more to haul a ton of wheat from farm to market on a muddy road than to ship that ton from New York to Liverpool), the mounting cost of living, the increase of motor truck transportation, have all contributed to the pressure which has finally made the United States as a whole do for itself what forty-eight states have been trying to do, in forty-eight degrees of bewilderment and incompetence, for two decades.

Forty-eight road commissions forty-eight ideas of what a road is and is not, some number less than forty-eight varieties of road graft, have not led us anywhere in making a comprehensive system of roads. We have a few good road states and a lot of poor road states. We have a few good road departments and a lot of so-called commissions of which the less said the better. Now the nation has extended federal aid to states in building roads. Whether federal aid to states as opposed to a system of national highways built, controlled, maintained and repaired and owned by the nation is the wise step only time can tell. Federal aid became a fact July 11 of last year, when legislation which will result in the spending of $150,000,000 for roads was passed by congress and signed by the president.

To spend $150,000,000 in five years time, spend it wisely, economically, efficiently, is not an easy task. It is not one which could be begun instantly upon the passage of the federal road bill, first, because an organization had to be perfected by the federal government under the direction of Legan Waller Page, director of public roads, and, second, because only one state, California, was in a position to submit a project and ask for some of its apportionment of money immediately on the passage of the act.

Now have the forty-eight states as yet all asked for any of their portion of federal aid, although practically all have signified their intention to do so. Some of them have no highway commissions and a highway commission or department a state must have before it can get any federal money. Indiana, Texas and South Carolina, for instance, must create and organize highway departments or commissions. Other states were in another sort of difficulty—Kansas, Wyoming and South Dakota were unable under their constitutions to spend state monies on internal improvements which were considered strictly county matters. The last two states altered this law at the last election, but Kansas, as a state, is still unable to negotiate with the government. To get its proportion of federal aid Kansas must work through a highway department created by her counties rather than her state legislature—unless she changes her organic law.

The federal government has appropriated $5,000,000 for road expenditures in 1917, $10,000,000 for 1918, $15,000,000 for 1919, $20,000,000 for 1920 and $25,000,000 for 1921, of which 3 per cent is for administrative purposes, leaving $22,750,000 for roads. The law provides that the federal government shall not contribute more than 50 per cent to the financing of any road project in any state. The money is apportioned on a three factor basis—population, area and mileage of rural star routes, each factor having a one-third weight.

The state must submit its project, its plans and specifications for a certain road or roads which it believes will serve it well and on which it is willing to spend enough money, matching the federal government dollar for dollar, to produce the kind of road which will be satisfactory to the secretary of agriculture.

If after consideration the project of the state is not considered one which will be of material benefit not only to the state as a state, but to the state as one of forty-eight states, then federal participation can be and will be denied. Thus a state planning a short piece of road interconnecting two central counties, which pieces of road formed no part of any state system or possible national system, would doubtless be refused federal participation in its building.

Pennsylvania Active For Good Roads
A bond issue totaling $50,000,000 is now proposed by Pennsylvanians prominent in the good roads movement. An amendment of the state constitution will have to be passed by the state legislature in order to accomplish this object.

A Guaranteed Daily Market For 100,000 Pounds of Milk

The Kee & Chapell Dairy Company Want Immense Quantities of Milk at Association Top Prices

This company wants milk, milk, milk, in tremendous amounts every day. We want all the milk you can send to us and we are willing to pay you the association set price the year 'round, so that you may be absolutely assured of a good margin of profit.

The Average Price For the Next Six Months Will Be $2.12 Per Hundred Pounds

We offer you a steady market for all the milk you can produce, at a guaranteed price, and a guaranteed payment every thirty days.

Our business is of wide scope, covering nine different plants in various sections of the country, operating one of the largest retail milk depots in Chicago, and the largest wholesale milk plant in that city.

Arrangements Being Made Now To Handle Your Milk Production

We have taken over the plant and interest of the Bower City Creamery Company and for the present will continue to handle their business of about 35,000 pounds of milk daily. But We Want More Milk. And can handle more milk at this plant.

About May 15th we expect to have finished our new bottling plant to be located on our property on Center avenue near the C. & N. W. freight depot, when We Will Want More Milk.

Special Attention Given To Daily Milk Delivery

In addition to those milk routes already established by the Bower City Creamery Company we will continue to increase the routes in number until there is coming to Janesville a river of milk every day. The establishment of these daily routes is in charge of Mr. E. E. Bullock, who is now making arrangements with regard to establishment of routes under an adequate financial arrangement.

Additional Herds Needed To Produce This Immense Quantity of Milk

With this great market thrown open farmers who have up to now not given much attention to dairy farming will be interested and will undoubtedly create milk herds. This is a most excellent opportunity to create a milk herd and there is absolutely no danger of over-production, because we will take daily every pound of milk you can furnish us. Your profit is guaranteed at all times because the association sets the price.

If You Can Furnish Us With Milk, Let Us Know

We'd be glad to talk it over with you in person. Phone us at the office of the Bower City Creamery and Mr. Bullock will call on you at once. If you can start sending us milk right away, please do so.
